Summary of Code Violations

Companies that join the FLA agree to uphold the FLA Workplace Code of Conduct throughout their entire supply chain. The Code of Conduct is based on International Labour Organization (ILO) standards, and defines labor standards that aim to achieve decent and humane working conditions.

While it is important to note when violations of the FLA Workplace Code of Conduct occur, the purpose of these assessments is not simply to test compliance against a particular benchmark, but rather to develop an understanding of where and how improvements can be made to achieve sustainable compliance. Code of Conduct violations can be found throughout the course of an assessment of the employment and management functions, and are addressed in companies’ action plans.

PREVIOUS FINDING NO.3

IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED

FINDING TYPE: Industrial Relations

Finding Explanation
1. The factory does not currently have a union, but it does have a Workers' Committee. It consists of 16 workers from production floor, who have been freely elected by the workers. Workers Committee meetings are conducted every 3 months and mainly concern topics such as food quality, event arrangements, etc.; however, the Committee is not effective and does not provide input to the management on matters pertaining to workers' welfare, remuneration, working hours, rest, vacation, etc.

2. Factory disciplinary policy ADM-03, Article 7.5.7.21, states that workers will be terminated if they urge workers to strike or participate in a strike.

3. FLA Comment: The Chinese constitution guarantees Freedom of Association; however, the Trade Union Act prevents the establishment of trade unions independent of the sole official trade union – the All China Federation of Trade Unions (ACFTU). According to the International Labor Organization (ILO), many provisions of the Trade Union Act are contrary to the fundamental principles of freedom of association, including the non-recognition of the right to strike. As a consequence, all factories in China fall short of the ILO standards on the right to organize and bargain collectively. Recently, however, the government has introduced new regulations that could improve the functioning of the labor relations' mechanisms. The Amended Trade Union Act of October 2001 stipulates that union committees have to be democratically elected at members' assemblies and trade unions must be accountable to their members. The trade union has the responsibility to consult with management on key issues of importance to their members and to sign collective agreements. It also grants the trade union an enhanced role in dispute resolution. In December 2003, the Collective Contracts Decree introduced the obligation for representative trade unions and employers to negotiate collective agreements, in contrast to the previous system of non-negotiated administrative agreements.

Recommendations for Immediate Action
1. Remove the clauses from the disciplinary policies that state that workers will be terminated if they urge workers to strike or participate in a strike.

COMPANY ACTION PLANS

Action Plan no 1.

Description
1. Factory already removed the anti-strike clause from the disciplinary policy fm ADM-03.
2. Continuous communicates and interacts with Worker's committee and all employees regarding all factory policies.

Company Action Plan Update
10/13/16 : "ADM-03 is review and the anti-strike clause is already removed. And factory will communicate with all employees whenever there are changes of policy. Related communication records are documented. For the worker committee, the Worker Reps should take initiatives of communication with workers and understand their need. 1. The Worker Reps Committee will have regular worker-management meeting at least on quarterly basis; 2. Before the Worker-management meeting, the Work Reps should collect workers’ concerns. 3. The concerns collected from workers are to be discussed during the meeting. 4. After discussion in the meeting, the committee should communicate the outcomes of the meeting with workers by posting meeting minutes. 5. Worker Reps
Committee will follow up the implementation of the issues discussed during the worker-management meeting. " "1. Factory has provided simple capacity building for the workers' representatives on communication skills to ensure they are clear with their roles and responsibilities. This capacity building for the workers representatives was to ensure they have clear understanding on their roles and responsibilities, and the skill on how to communicate with workers and management effectively. Trainings were conducted in April 2016. The training records were properly maintained. The next training will be conducted in December 2016. 2. The Worker Reps Committee will conduct regular worker-management meeting at least on a quarterly basis; 3. Company policies and major updates will be discussed in Workers -Management Committee meetings, such as revised the policies on ADM-03 Awards & Disciplinary policy. 4. Factory provided training in July 2016 on Industrial Dispute Handling Policy. 5. Factory plans to conduct the desktop drill on how to handle industrial dispute in October 2016. The issue is on-going. It will be reviewed again in the next audit follow up."
